

WOMEN TO MARCH IN FUNERAL PROCESSION

Parade of 20,000 Planned as a Protest Against War in Europe.

NO MUSIC SAVE THAT OF MUFFLED DRUMS

Anti-Suffragists Will Be Asked to Join in Impressive Demonstration.

If the plans of the peace-loving women of this city do not meet with success, the parade of 20,000 women, planned for August 23, will see 20,000 women, dressed in funeral black, marching on Fifth av. or some other central thoroughfare to register their protest against the war in Europe.

The suggestion, made yesterday, took instantly. The Women's Political Union offered one of its offices at 45 West 45th st. for the executive work, and Miss Lillian Deaver volunteered to take charge.

Miss Deaver was the secretary of the women's committee that helped elect Mayor Mitchell, and the work she did led Mrs. Borden Harriman to ask her to be secretary of the Industrial Relations Commission.

She will begin this morning sending out appeals to women to "march for peace," and has already asked a number of peace advocates to meet with her this afternoon.

The parade is to have nothing to do with suffrage or any other cause. Women of all classes and all beliefs are asked to come just because they are mothers, wives, daughters, sisters, and don't want men slaughtered for no reason. Anti-suffragists are especially invited to join.

Miss Lillian Deaver, who is one of the first women to agree to co-operate, said: "I feel that the proposed parade is a feeble protest to make against the awful tragedy of this war, and that it is the only protest open to women I shall help all I can."

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, who was discovered by emissaries stopping a lively war between a Russian newspaper and a German newspaper on 42d st. and Fifth av., said she thought it was about time women did something to show how they felt.

"I'd march in the peace parade, if more than ten women marched," she said, "but I hope there'll be twenty thousand."

It was Dr. Anna Howard Shaw who suggested that the marchers all wear black. It is hoped that the city will grant the women a permit to parade on Fifth av. If it does, the line of march will be from 50th st. to Union Square, where a special meeting will be held.

There will be no music in the parade, save muffled drums. One banner will be carried, the peace banner, at the head. Mrs. Henry Villard, who has done so much work for women, will probably be asked to carry it.

SEEK CONJUNCTION TO STOP ELECTION

Citizens Union Contends Fraud Votes Decided Convention Issue.

Argument for an injunction to restrain the Boards of Election of the state from preparing ballots for the convention or election of delegates to the constitutional convention was heard yesterday by Justice Seabury on the application of William J. Schieffelin, Jr., and the Citizens Union.

Justice Seabury, who has been asked to grant the injunction, said that the fraudulent votes in favor of the convention were discarded, the majority vote would be against it.

The only attorneys present besides Mansfield Ferry, who represented the plaintiffs, were those appearing for the Boards of Election of New York City, Suffolk County and Westchester County. The court expressed an opinion that, since the question was one affecting the entire state, the Attorney General should have been represented. The suit was therefore undefended.

An immense number of affidavits were submitted to the court, showing that men who said they had not voted for the convention, had in fact done so; that others did not live at addresses given for them, and that the signatures of 161 electors did not correspond with those on the enrollment book.

Mr. Schieffelin, Jr., said that the affidavits showed that out of a total of 1,076 fraudulent votes, 1,012 had been cast in the 12th Assembly District, the entire vote of the 12th District favoring the convention should be thrown out as unworthy. In summarizing he said that the deduction of the fraudulent votes in the state would leave a balance of 151,574 against the convention, and 151,372 in favor of the convention—a majority against it.

There was a question involved as to whether the court had a right to grant an injunction in the case on the action of a taxpayer, upon which point Attorney Ferry argued that the court did have the right, since it was the taxpayers' money that would pay for the ballots, although the vote had been against holding the convention. Justice Seabury adjourned the hearing until next Wednesday.

ORDER TO SAIL HURRIES WEDDING

Coal Company Man, Rushed to London, Books Self and Wife, Then Gets Married.

A. E. Mettlich, who represents one of the big American coal companies, was suddenly ordered to London yesterday and booked passage for America. He is expected to sail this morning for Liverpool. He was assigned to a two-bedroom room which, he was told, he would have to share with another passenger.

The sudden order had upset Mr. Mettlich's plans for his wedding, which had been set for August 31. After booking he called up his fiancée, whose name was carefully guarded, and informed her that the wedding would have to be postponed. She said something over the telephone from her home in Westfield which greatly pleased him.

Dropping the receiver, he rushed to the booking counter and asked if he could have a room for himself and wife. He explained that his fiancée wished to marry him that afternoon and sail with him. He was informed that there was no such vacancy.

While the coal man was standing, disconsolate, the booking clerk went to answer a telephone. When he came back to the counter he wore a smile.

"We can take care of you now all right," he said to Mettlich. "A two-bedroom room has just been booked for you. The booking clerk went to answer a telephone. When he came back to the counter he wore a smile.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

SO MADISON AVENUE

The orders and notices that appear in this column apply only to the Boy Scouts of America, and not to any other organization using the word "Scouts"—L. F. Hamner, President New York City Council.

HEADQUARTERS NOTICES.

Last week the scouts at Camp Mitchell, under the guidance of Assistant Scoutmaster Fred Schoon, took a hike to the Bronx Zoo, where they inspected the animals and lunched at the Rocking Stone restaurant. In the afternoon they returned through Westchester village and arrived at the Rocking Stone restaurant. In the afternoon they returned through Westchester village and arrived at the Rocking Stone restaurant.

The night was spent in the camp and the boys returned to camp the following morning. It is planned to make these hikes a feature of the remainder of the camp season, as they not only afford a change in the usual routine but give opportunity for practice in most of the outdoor scouting activities, and especially for the study of natural history. During the coming week the older boys will visit the camp of Chief Scout Ernest Thompson Seton, at Greenwich, Conn.

Three rowboats—one sixteen feet long and two others of one and one-half feet long—have recently been delivered and are serving a useful purpose. It is again necessary to explain that the camp management cannot undertake to furnish these boats for the transportation of Sunday visitors, who will find the relatively short walk through the woods from Pelham Manor station more satisfactory than a tedious wait for a boat. The boats are not expected to remain in camp after retreat and inspection at 5:30 o'clock p. m.

The New York City Council will entertain a patrol from Troy, N. Y., on Saturday and Sunday. The boys have been hiking down the Hudson, visiting the more important towns.

Reports are occasionally received at headquarters of the dismissal of scouts from troops for conduct or otherwise unbecoming a scout. Each case of this kind is carefully recorded in a separate card catalogue, which may be consulted at any time by duly commissioned scoutmasters. No officer in charge of a troop is warranted in admitting a boy who claims to be a scout from another jurisdiction unless the latter can produce satisfactory evidence that he is in good standing, such as his membership certificate or a letter from his former scoutmaster. Ownership of a badge is, unfortunately, not a reliable credential, as the offender is rarely compelled to yield his badge on leaving the troop.

It seems scarcely necessary to remind scoutmasters that transfers from one troop to another can be made only by local headquarters, and even only with the consent of both officers involved.

The New York City Council desires to receive photographs showing the activities of local troops, as well as news items of interest to scout activities.

Troop Notices.
The funeral of Scout J. S. Shingo, of Troop 17, of the 1st Squadron, Commissioner Jules Dieck is scoutmaster, was held on July 25 at St. Anthony's Church. The pallbearers were Scouts Solli, Peretti, Massari, and others. The service was held at 10 o'clock, and all members of the troop.

Troop 3, Deputy Commissioner A. C. Charles scoutmaster, expects to have as its guests at Camp Mitchell the next two weeks, two boys from Meriden, Conn., thus reciprocating the courtesy extended to the troop by the scout commissioner of Meriden at the recent camp of that council.

Troop 175, W. G. Bator scoutmaster, has visited the camp of the Brooklyn council at Southfields, N. Y.

BOY SCOUTS MAY BE FIGURE IN WAR

Total Number in Europe 350,000, of Which Great Britain Has Most.

Dispatches telling of Boy Scouts' capture of spies in Belgium, their guarding of British bridges and their plans to help harvest the crops have led to the belief that they will play an important role in the European conflict.

There are about 550,000 Boy Scouts in Europe, divided as follows: Great Britain, 200,000; France, 150,000; Germany, 80,000; Austria-Hungary, 15,000; Russia, Poland, 8,000; Serbia, 4,000; Scandinavia, 30,000; scattered, 25,000. England was the pioneer in the movement, and it is believed that Holland and Scandinavia took it up. The other countries fell in line.

Ludwig S. Dale, an authority on the movement, said last night that, although the Boy Scouts had no organization working for peace there was nothing that would discourage the taking up of arms in self-defense.

"It follows, therefore," said Mr. Dale, "that every patriotic Scout should necessarily arise, would answer his country's call for such aid as he might be able to render. He would do this, mindful of his duty to his country."

Mr. Dale said that owing to their training in signal work and drills the older Boy Scouts should be of great value to military officers as attendants, orderlies and messengers.
